

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT 1969-1970

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE, ANNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA

INTRODUCTION

The story in these pages unfolds some of the complexities of the 1969-1970 year at Lebanon Valley College. It is a story of achievement, success, change, potential, and even some failure. The combined efforts of many people made the year not only possible, but also strong, unique, and beneficial to our students.

The service and help of everyone are required for the benefit of the young men and women who attend Lebanon Valley College, and the academic program in which these young people participate must be the central force of the institution. It needs our constant review in terms of our total objective and in terms of the needs of today's students.

Although the students arrive on campus already very mature, the College's academic program, social environment, extracurricular activities, spiritual concerns, interactions of people, and opportunities for service should influence them greatly lest Lebanon Valley College be superfluous in our society.

THE STUDENTS

The students of 1969-1970 can be pictured in many different ways. In September there were 925 full-time students and 49 part-time students. These figures represent high marks for the College.

Through our religious preference survey, we can look at these students as 29% United Methodists, the highest single group, and approximately 4% claiming no religious affiliation. Approximately 79% of these students were resident students, while 21% were classified as commuting students. Seniors numbered 185, and there were approximately 300 freshmen. At the close of the first semester, 130 students appeared on the Dean's List, while 87 were placed on probation.

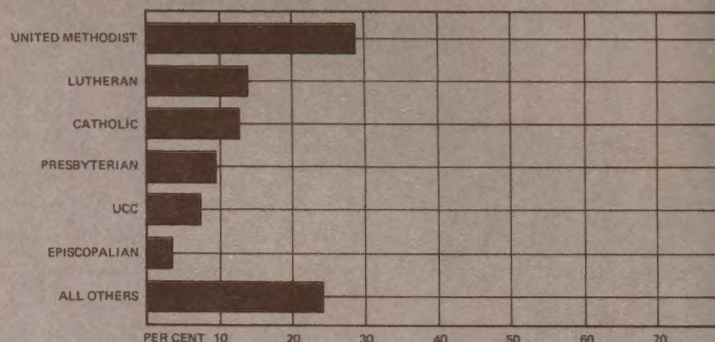

In addition to the students of our regular day time program in September, there were 125 registrations in the campus evening school and 587 registrations in the program of the University Center at Harrisburg.

The graphs to the right give additional pictures of the students.

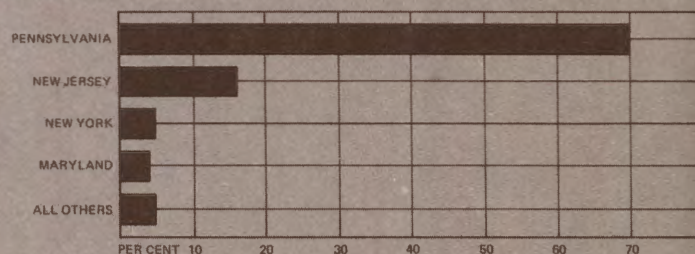

In 1969-1970 a new student government program was implemented. A new chapel-convocation program was instituted. A pass/fail system was begun for some courses. All of these new programs were constructed with the aid of students. Their first year contained some misunderstandings and many problems, but full evaluation can be made only after more experience with them.

In spite of new programs, student concerns continued to mount regarding personal relationships on the campus and various requirements within the College. Many of the large, unresolved problems of our society are giving strong influence to the thoughts and desires of students as they live together in the college environment. We must strive to make the purposes of our institution more clearly understood; we must strive to have a high quality institution making its unique contribution to our society; and at the same time, we must strive to understand and appreciate more fully the needs and concerns of our students.

GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION OF FULL-TIME STUDENTS

MAJOR FIELDS OF STUDY

THE FACULTY

The academic year began with 64 full-time faculty members and 13 part-time members. Two foreign language teacher aides assisted the instructional staff. Success was achieved in the effort to increase the proportion of full-time members of the faculty. In using full-time equivalents of both faculty members and students, the student-faculty ratio continued a little in excess of thirteen to one.

The new full-time faculty members for 1969-1970 were the following:

Dr. Jeanne Argot - Assistant Professor of Biology

Mr. D. Roger Gaeckler - Instructor in Physical Education

Mr. Richard A. Iskowitz - Instructor in Art

Mr. William Kerr - Assistant Professor of Education

Dr. Keith L. Kilgore - Instructor in Political Science

Mr. Vinod P. Maniyar - Assistant Professor of Economics

Dr. Anthony G. St.Pierre - Assistant Professor of Physics

Mr. Edward H. White - Assistant Professor of Sociology

Mr. Philip G. Morgan - Instructor in Music

Mrs. Karen Coleman - Instructor in English

Dr. George G. Struble, Chairman of the Department of English, concluded 39 years of outstanding service with his retirement at the end of the year. He will continue to teach part-time. Other faculty members concluding services to the College were Dr. Bernard Bissinger, Mrs. Coleman, and Dr. St.Pierre.

Many honors and awards have come to our faculty members. It is fitting to include in this report my highest praise for the outstanding work that our faculty has accomplished with our students. One need spend only a little time on our campus to gain an appreciation of the faculty's high quality.

CURRICULUM & PROGRAM

While no complete curriculum revision took place in any department this year, a number of courses were added to round out course offerings. One such course is an Introduction to Anthropology, a move which has been anticipated for some time, but one which awaited the appointment of a faculty member competent to teach in this area.

A subcommittee on the Academic Affairs Committee, chaired by Dr. Rhodes, has been making progress on a study of our general and distribution requirements. The most recent revision in these requirements was made in 1965 after a long study. As far as the present study is concerned, it does not appear that major changes will be made.

Our membership in the Middle-Atlantic Educational and Research Center (MERC) provided advantages for our students in the use of computer facilities in our educational program.

A new program venture this past year was the Mid-Year All-College Symposium held in January 26-28 and devoted to the theme "The Negro in American Film." Dr. Thomas R. Cripps of Morgan State College was the leader of the Symposium, while Ruby Dee, stage, screen and television star, gave the College an evening long to be remembered. A number of mechanical difficulties were encountered, and required attendance caused some problems. On the whole, however, the program was truly worthwhile. Next year's program will be devoted either to a study of environmental pollution or a fine arts festival. A new student-faculty committee is at work on the program.

A re-vitalized art program has created excellent student response and interest. The chief handicap in this area is facilities, which hopefully will be less of a problem shortly with the possibility of more space being available in a place other than Saylor Hall.

During the year, the State Department of Education gave Program Approval status to our teacher program in Spanish, in view of our use of a native teaching aide. The Department has completed and circulated new guidelines for Teacher Education Program Approval, preparatory to the second general round of visitation of teacher-preparing institutions. Revision of our own programs will involve a sizeable amount of work, and planning on this project is underway.

THE LIBRARY

Dr. and Mrs. Donald E. Fields concluded their services of 23 years each with retirement at the close of the year. Their achievements in the library are told in part by the statistics comparing 1957-1958 (the year in which the new library opened) and 1969-1970.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

The faculty and the students were served by the following full-time professional administrative staff:

- One President
- Three Vice Presidents
- One Assistant Dean
- Two Student Deans
- Three persons in the Admissions Office
- Four persons in the Library
- Two persons in the Development Office
- Three persons in the Public Relations Office
- One Director of Alumni Relations
- One Chaplain
- Two persons in the Business Office
- One Nurse
- One Director of Athletics
- One Bookstore Manager

Retirements in the administrative organization include those of Mrs. Edna Carmean in the Public Relations Office and Mrs. Margaret Millard in the Dining Hall.

Efforts continued in making the administrative organization as streamlined and service-rendering as possible, while at the same time mastering the increasing workload of record keeping, problem solving and planning.

ADMISSIONS

For entrance in September, 1970, the admissions personnel have recruited 300 new students. Approximately 250 of these new students are freshmen while the remaining 50 are students who transferred from a variety of other institutions. Because of our intention to hold the total full-time enrollment in September of 1970 to the same or only a few more than that of 1969, the new students recruited number about 50 less than in the previous year.

Financial aid for students continues to be a major problem in the process of recruitment. With help from the state and federal governments, foundations, individuals, the Church, and the resources of the College, efforts are made to meet the needs of qualifying students to as great an extent as possible.

PHYSICAL IMPROVEMENTS

Physical changes to the campus continued during the year. The College's largest dormitory (Funkhouser Hall) opened in September, housing 224 students. Additional parking lots were added, and facilities were added to the football field to make possible home games on the campus. A new campus bulletin board was located near the Chapel, and construction on the new College Center began in January.

Through various purchases the College added approximately fifteen acres of land adjacent to the athletic field, found a home for the Foreign Language Department offices on College Avenue, and made arrangements to acquire the Lutheran Church property at North White Oak and Church Streets.

A very welcome improvement was included in the late spring. The main floor of the library was air-conditioned. Under the section "Fund for Fulfillment" more information is mentioned regarding facilities.

DEVELOPMENT

The last pages of this report give in detail the work and the results of our efforts in financial development. Lebanon Valley College is extremely proud and appreciative of so many who have helped so generously in making 1969-1970 a successful year.

We seek the counsel of everyone who reads this report in making the years ahead even more successful.

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

During the year the Alumni Association welcomed into its local club structure two new groups in Pennsylvania known as the Lehigh Valley Club and the Anthracite Club. There are now thirteen local clubs.

After many man hours of study the Association revised its constitution which was approved during the spring Alumni Day. The new constitution provides for a Board of Governors that will allow for greater flexibility and assure even better service to the members and to the College.

In its concern for the continuing education of its members, the Association expanded its young program of special interest days. In addition to a special program for music alumni, a day for science alumni was was sponsored with unusual initial success. For the future there are plans to have additional days for those alumni with special academic interests.

The efforts of the Association have assisted and promoted the College immeasurably. Lebanon Valley College has every right and reason to be proud of her alumni.

THE FUTURE

In a time when many small colleges are severing and denying their church relationships and others are becoming public institutions, the Board of Trustees of Lebanon Valley College revised and amended the Charter and By-Laws of the institution with a forthright reaffirmation of the strong affiliation and association between the College and the United Methodist Church. This affiliation is concretely demonstrated by church conference representatives on the Board of Trustees and demonstrated by the financial support from the church. This association continues to have great potential for our standing as a unique institution in providing service to our students and to our society. It is hoped that the more than 400,000 members of the Central Pennsylvania and Eastern Pennsylvania Conferences will take an active part in assisting Lebanon Valley College to render this outstanding service.

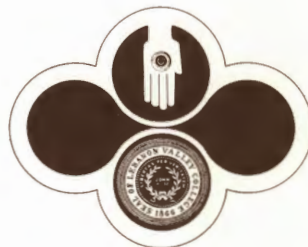

In order to assure a bright future, much has been given by many in the past. With this report I recognize the passing to their eternal rewards of Dr. William J. Fisher, Mr. Gordon S. Kunkel, and Dr. Earnest D. Williams, Sr. who were members of our Board of Trustees, and Dr. V. Earl Light, Professor Emeritus of Biology.

FUND FOR FULFILLMENT

In one of the bold and daring actions taken by our Board of Trustees in May, 1970, plans were adopted for the future physical development of Lebanon Valley College. Previous action by the Board had allowed for a capital campaign to begin July 1, 1971, and the May action added specificity to this authorization.

The new program was titled "Fund for Fulfillment" in recognition of our need for providing major physical facilities to fulfill, mature, and round out our great development of the past two decades. The purposes of the "Fund for Fulfillment" are expansion of the Dining Hall and construction of a College Center, construction of a Music Building, construction of a Science Building, an increased endowment fund, renovation of the Administration Building, a bridge across the railroad, development of a main campus entrance, and to decrease indebtedness.

Much preparatory work for this campaign will be conducted during 1970-1971, and detailed information will be disseminated to keep everyone aware of the plans and progress.

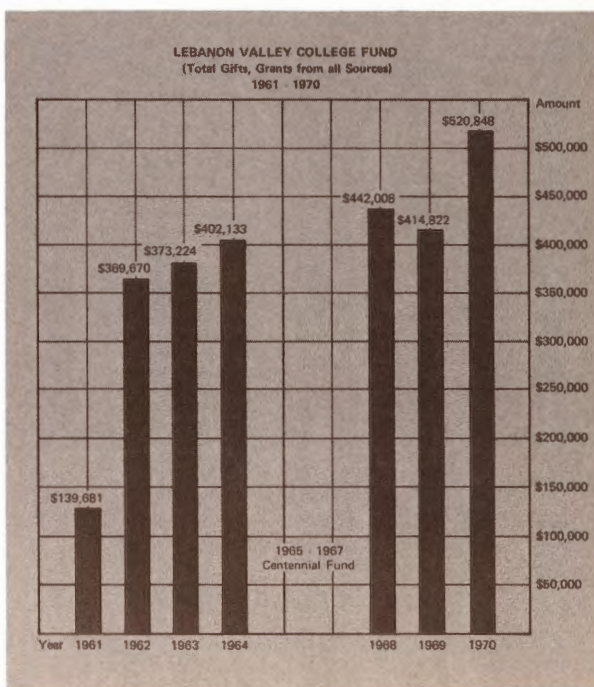

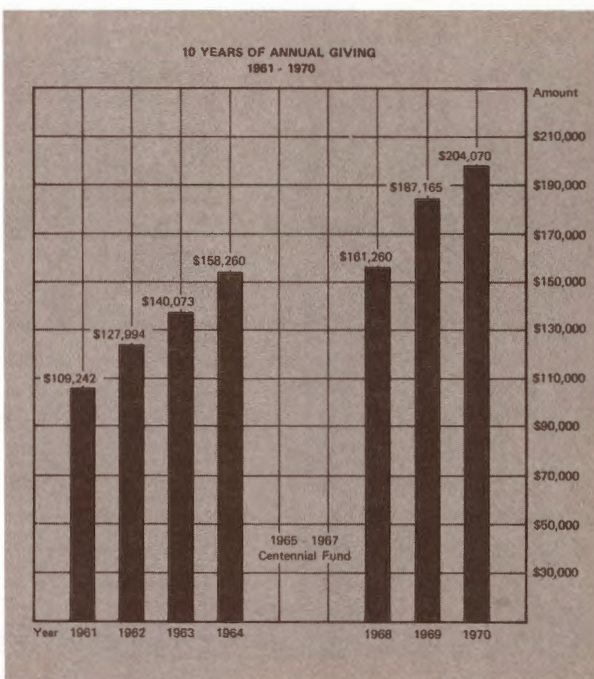

COMMITMENT THROUGH GIVING

We are very pleased to report that contributions to Lebanon Valley College for the fiscal year ended on June 30, 1970, exceeded one-half million dollars. For the first time, this level of giving was achieved without the benefit of a capital campaign. In addition, as in previous years, the Annual Giving goal was surpassed. This was accomplished despite decreased giving in some traditional areas of support, but was more than compensated by income from other sources, especially in the area of deferred gifts.

The members of the Board of Trustees, faculty, and administration express their sincere appreciation to the contributors listed on these pages who made it possible to insure the continuation of quality education at Lebanon Valley College.

We have strived to be as accurate as possible in the preparation of this report. However, if there are any omissions or corrections, we hope you will understand and inform us of our error.

CHURCH PARTICIPATION

Since the union of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and the Methodist Church, there has been a period of natural uncertainty and change in the area of financial support from the Eastern Pennsylvania and Central Pennsylvania Conferences. This has resulted in sharply decreased receipts as compared to the previous year, a trend we are confident will be reversed in the future.

During the past year, the contributions received from the various churches primarily were a result of the Dollar-Per-Member Program of the former EUB congregations. Beginning in January, 1971, the type and method of support will be changed in both conferences. As is natural when two church bodies merge, these changes will probably continue so that the most equitable and tangible support will evolve. For the present, the Eastern Conference has included a grant in the 1971 budget for the benefit of the College, and the Central Conference will continue its program of voluntary support. In addition, new and innovative programs of financial support have been discussed, some of which will be initiated to supplement existing methods.

During the past year, 263 congregations contributed a total of $30,767 to the Lebanon Valley College Fund. The College is appreciative of this giving, and is grateful for the leadership of the bishops, district superintendents, and the pastors and laymen of these congregations.

GIFTS BY ALUMNI & FRIENDS

Lebanon Valley College is grateful to these many alumni and friends who invested in the 1969-1970 Lebanon Valley College Fund. We point out with pride that 37% of those alumni solicited (many alumni addresses are unknown) made contributions to the College. Correspondingly, it is significant, that in two years the level of giving by parents and friends has increased well over 100%. We are encouraged, we are pleased, and we are very genuinely appreciative.

GIFTS OF CASH ARE THE MOST COMMON BUT . . .

Gifts of cash are the most common and frequently used method of making contributions to Lebanon Valley College, but some of the contributors listed on these pages selected other means to lend their support. There are many options available in selecting a method to make a gift to the college, some of which were utilized this year.

For example, one individual purchased an annuity, whereby he arranged to receive a guaranteed income for life, and at the same time reap definite tax benefits. Another friend of the college made a substantial gift to the college, but in the form of a trust. This gift entitles him to certain tax advantages, based on the gift and his age, and provides a return income based on the fair market value of the property he transferred. A loyal friend who recently passed away, included the college as a co-beneficiary in his life insurance policy which he purchased years before. Some other options of giving exercised by alumni and friends included gifts of securities, gifts of property, and of course gifts through wills. In most or all of these cases, the tax and intangible benefits far out-weighed a comparable gift of cash.

Naturally, we are most appreciative of cash contributions, because these are the gifts that provide the real basis of support for the college, but we do hope the opportunity arises to investigate these other attractive and perhaps tax-saving methods of giving. Attorneys should be consulted, especially about complicated plans, however information on many of these options can be obtained from the Director of Development, Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Penna. 17003.

MATCHING GIFTS

One of the healthy signs of concern for higher education is the program of matching gifts that has been adopted by many industries and businesses throughout the United States. Under this program, a contribution by an employee to his Alma Mater or another college of his choice is matched with an equivalent grant by the participating company.

This year, 31 business concerns have made matching gift grants to Lebanon Valley College totaling $4,305.76. Lebanon Valley College appreciates the support of both the original donors and their employers.

Contributors to the Lebanon Valley College Fund who may have questions regarding the matching gifts program should feel free to write the Director of Development at the College. He can supply the names of businesses which subscribe to this program.

CONCLUSION

I close this report with an expression of thanks to every friend and associate of Lebanon Valley College for the support, the help, and the encouragement which have been provided. To our faculty, students, and administrative staff I give commendation for their having worked together so diligently to give meaning and purpose to life on our campus. To our Conference Bishops and to all of our supporting churches, to the chairman of and to the members of our Board of Trustees, to all of our alumni and friends, I express appreciation. No few pages of report can tell how busy and how beneficial were the days of the past year. Neither can they express fully how challenging were the times that confronted us. I continue to say that all who are interested in Lebanon Valley College must help her move ahead, unafraid to dare and to dream.

Respectfully submitted,
